Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2, and 7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The scope of claim 1 cannot be clearly determined. The claim is narrative. The recitation "wherein of this roller the axis can be displaced over a circle arc" is ambiguous. It is not clear what feature this roller is referring to. Furthermore, the phrase "can be" is not a positive recitation and therefore renders the claim indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by D'Angelo (5,756,889). Regarding claim 1, as best understood, D'Angelo discloses a roller pair (Figure 1, reference 8) for a roller testing stand (Figure 1) with, two, commonly driven, rollers the distance of which can be adjusted with respect to each other. By adjusting the distance between each roller, the axis of the rollers is inherently displaced (column 5, lines 23-40).

5. Regarding claim 2, D'Angelo discloses wherein the adjustable roller is driven from the driving gear or wheels by an endless transmission element (Figure 3, reference 13)

6. Regarding claim 7, D'Angelo discloses a roller testing stand comprising a roller pair (Figure 1, reference 8).

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 3-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
